Army Ordered to Keep Open Spa Hospital

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee, criticizing the Army's "apparent desire" to ignore a 1955 congressional directive, today again told the Army to continue operating in the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass.

It wrote into the Army appropriation bill provision for continued operation of the two hospitals in the year starting July 1. The criticism was contained in the committee's report on the bill.

Most of the language in the report rapped the Army for limited operation of the Hot Springs hospital despite a similar directive in last year's appropriation bill.

The committee said the Army should make a "wholehearted effort" to operate the facility.

For three years the Army has sought to close the two hospitals, contending it does not need them.

Two years ago Arkansas and Massachusetts congressmen persuaded the Army to continue their operation. Last year Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) inserted a directive in the appropriation bill ordering the Army to continue the two hospitals in operation.

Rep. Norrell (D-Ark), a committee member who led the move to require the Army to operate the hospitals, particularly the one at Hot Springs, said he believes the committee position this time is so firm that the Army "can't ignore it."

Norrell said the bill itself contains sufficient funds for a full scale operation.

"I asked Chairman Sykes (D-Fla) of the subcommittee which handled the bill specifically about this point," Norrell said, "and he assured me sufficient funds will be available."

Norrell said the amount would be about $3,300,000, the sum used by the Army at Hot Springs in 1953, "the last year it was operated full scale."

He committed declared in its report today:

"The committee has included in the bill the same provisions as appears in the 1956 act, providing for continued operation of the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs and Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass."

"The committee is concerned over the apparent desire of the department to ignore the directive of Congress. While the Army-Navy Hospital was reopened, no effort was made to operate it as much more than a dispensary."

"Only a token number of doctors were assigned and due to this it was deemed that only limited types of patients could be sent to the hospital, his resulted in an average patient load of 40 or less."

"The committee effort should be made to operate the hospital in a proper manner that will be to the good of the Army and its personnel."

C of C Names Tourist Committee

The tourist committee of Hope chamber of commerce today was making plans to welcome and entertain out-of-state visitors as they passed through this city.

Last summer the committee gained considerable good-will for this area with surprise stops of visitors, who were dined, presented souvenirs and taken on a brief tour of the city.

The tourist committee is again headed by Harrell Collier as chairman, and working with him will be:

Jury to Get Truck Driver's Case Today

ARKADELPHIA (AP) — Testimony in the first degree murder trial of a truck driver charged with the fatal shooting of a woman hitchhiker apparently was nearing an end here today.

State's testimony was completed yesterday, first day of the trial of David Geiger, 42, of Summerville, S. C., and several defense witnesses were heard before court recessed overnight. Geiger was expected to take the witness stand in his own defense today.

Geiger is accused in the death of Mrs. Mildred Holden of Silsbee, Tex., who was found dead of a bullet wound in the head near here last December.

Geiger, arrested later at Summerville, said Mrs. Holden, without warning, killed herself with a 38-caliber revolver he carried in the truck cab. He said he dumped her body out of the truck and continued his trip. Geiger said he didn't notify police because he was afraid.

The woman hitched a ride with him in Texas, Geiger said.

Dr. Anderson Nettleship of Little Rock, the state medical examiner, testified yesterday that the bullet which killed Mrs. Holden came from a gun that was an inch or less away from her head. The muzzle might have been pressed against her head at the time, he added.

The defense introduced depositions from three Texas policemen that Mrs. Holden had been considered mentally unbalanced and once spent a brief period in a mental institution at Rust, Tex.

The prosecution is not seeking the death penalty against Geiger.

Worried House Group Gives More for Defense

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voicing concern over Russia's growing military might, the House Appropriations Committee voted today to give the Defense Department $33,635,000 in new money.

This is $512,784,000 less than the total President Eisenhower asked in his original budget last January and in a supplemental request last month for the book-keeping year starting July 1.

But more than half of the reduction was made up of paper changes which the committee said would not affect specific military programs. The committee said it expects that $278,319,000, of the cut will remain available in the form of foreign currency under mutual defense and occupation agreements.

The amount recommended is $1,741,832,374 more than Congress appropriated for the present year ending June 30.

The recommendations were contained in a bill which the House will consider next week. The Senate will act later.

The committee said emphasis during the coming year will be on airpower and new weapons "being phased in at an increasing rate."

The new money, plus funds carried over, would give the Defense Department 46 1/2 million during the new fiscal year. It contemplates military strength of 2,865,200 in mid-1957, compared with 2,820,100 next June 30.

Here's how the new dollars would be shared among the services:

Army—$7,497,582,000, a budget cut of $84,068,000 but an increase of $871,774,444 over this year.

Air Force—$15,479,125,000, a budget cut of $187,375,000 but an increase of $739,361,830 over this year.

spirator trying to undermine the American way of life.

"U. S. bonds!" they yelp. "Don't you know that at the end of 10 years you'll probably get less out of them, in terms of real money value, than you put into them?"

"Maybe," I admit. "But somebody has to keep poor old Uncle Sam from going over the hill to the poorhouse. If you won't do it, I'll have to."

This only seems to infuriate them.

The biggest objection I have to the stock market is not that I don't know how to get rich in it (if I did, I would) but that it has done more to ruin the art of conversation than anything since television.

The shop talk of the stock market, once limited to stock brokers and a limited class of customers, now is the shop talk of everyone from bricklayer to banker.

I don't understand the terms. The care and feeding of the bulls and bears is of limited interest to me. I'm not sure of the difference between a long-term capital gain, and an off-tackle smash with the fullback carrying the ball. To me a "blue chip" is still something I toss into the poker pot only when I'm holding four queens.

You can't get away from the stock market. If you're reading the sports page in the subway, the guy reading over your shoulder asks: "Would you mind turning to the business section? I want to see how Amalgamated Tiddlywinks is doing."

You go to a party and say, "It looks like rain tomorrow," and a bystander breaks in and inquires anxiously: "How do you think that will affect Congelated Copper, Ltd.?"

Coming home recently after an evening of such conversation, I told my wife: "Wasn't it boring? I'm glad I don't own a share of stock."

"What makes you think you don't, Rover?" replied Frances, who handles the family budget. Then she retreated into silence.

What I want to know is, can it be possible to be in the stock market — and not even know it?

Operation May Help Athlete

LAUREL, Md. (UP)—Little Tony Despirito's gameness was all that stood between him and the end of a great riding career.
Doctors at Prince George's hospital doubted that he ever would be able to go to the post again. He had an operation for the removal of one kidney and his spleen and he was suffering from three broken ribs and shock.

All of that was the result of a spill at Laurel Park on Tuesday in which he narrowly escaped getting killed. He was up on Forderal and was at the 16th pole when his mount stumbled and broke his right foreleg. Despirito was plunged to the track and trampled.
The operation was performed yesterday and he was expected to be laid up for at least two months.

Nelson Hill's Poppies
Arrive At Legion Home

Bright red poppies bloomed in profusion in the American Legion Auxiliary room at the American Legion home today. They were the poppies which will be worn here on Poppy Day, May 5, to pay tribute to the memory of America's war dead. Members of the Auxiliary poppy committee unpacked them from the boxes in which they came from Ft. Roots Hospital, counted them and arranged them for distribution to the volunteer workers who will offer them on the streets on poppy Day.

Made of crepe paper with wrapped wire stems, the poppies are the handwork of disabled veterans at the hospital. Each group of the little flowers showed slight differences, depending upon the skill of the maker. Mrs. Stuart, poppy committee chairman, pointed out that each will have the same meaning when worn on Poppy Day
... "Honor the Dead, Aid the Disabled."

Jimmy McKissie

The 15-year-old Jimmy McKissie of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, the son of a Baptist minister, will be the Guest Artist, Saturday night at the Musical Extravaganza program. Jimmy, as most people call him can get more out of an organ or piano than the average person.

He began his musical career at the age of four and has mastered every musical instrument of every description including the harp. The most recent compliment Jimmy has received is that his entire nerve system is made up of musical notes. It is said of him "If you can sing it Jimmy can play it." He is a sophomore at Merrill High School in Pine Bluff, Arkansas and is an "A" student.

Jimmy travels on concert tours during the summer months and has saved enough money from his concert appearances to see himself through college. He has also aided other young people with financial assistance through college.

It is hoped that all the young people of Hope will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this young man in action Saturday night with his versatile ability and dynamic personality. Jimmy will arrive in Hope sometime Saturday afternoon and will be the guest of the Reverend and Mrs. C. S.
Stearns, Saturday night.

Redlegs Bench Star, Team Is Really Clicking

By RIP WATSON
Of The Associated Press

Benching the team's star slugger may not sound like good managerial strategy, but it's worked wonders for Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Reds.

Ever since big Ted Kluwe was benched, the Redlegs have been on a diet of home runs and victories, with five roundtrippers coming last night as they blitzed Brooklyn's faltering Dodgers 10-6 for their sixth successive victory.
The team has lifted the club from the basement to a 7-5 mark with the leaders of the scrambled National League race.

Wally Post, the major league leader with 8; George Crowe, big Klu's "temporary" replacement; Ray Jablonski and Gus Bell were the home run heroes last night as the Redlegs ran their record to 17 homers in their last six games.

The modern Murderers' Row sided the headlines from the New York Giants' 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs in 17 innings, on Daryl Spencer's sacrifice fly, and a 10-9 victory over Pittsburgh that sent the St. Louis Cardinals to the top of the National League.
Cincinnati and Milwaukee trail by a half-game and the Dodgers and Giants by a full game. Philadelphia and Milwaukee were not scheduled.

In contrast, pitching was the password in the American League with a pair of youthful right-handers, Detroit's Frank Lary and Tom Brewer of Boston supplying all the answers.

Lary knocked the New York Yankees out of first place and blanked the New Yorkers until the ninth inning, coasting to an 8-1 victory behind a 15-hit attack.

Brewer went 100 or better as he shut out Kansas City in hanging up a three-hit, 2-0 victory.
The Chicago White Sox, whose 5-2 record gives a better percentage (.714) than the Yanks (.692), were routed out at Baltimore and Cleveland was washed out in Washington.

The Giants established a record when they sent 25 men into action against Chicago. The old mark of 24 players was set by Pittsburgh against Boston in 1940 and tied by Brooklyn against New York April 21, 1948.

The Cubs threw 23 men into the fray and the combined total of 48 also was a major league record.
Spencer was the big man for the Giants as he tripled and scored one run, blasted a two-run homer and sent home the winner with his fly.

Stan Musial bagged a grand slam home run for the Cards, but it was a squeeze bunt by light-hitting Alex Grammas that eventually won for the Red Birds in the tenth over Pittsburgh.

Brown Decisions Wallace Smith

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Joe Brown did not get the knockout he predicted but believes his unanimous decision over lightweight champion Wallace "Bub" Smith earned him a rematch for the title.

Brown, 29-year-old Negro from New Orleans, used a vicious right, a strong left and a sharp defense last night in scoring a popular decision over the champion in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Sam Houston Coliseum. The title was not at stake.

Brown was not damaged. Smith, losing his third straight overweight fight, received a cut lip and a swollen left eye. Smith was 8½ pounds over the 135-pound lightweight limit. Brown weighed 139.

The 27-year-old Smith had no comment about a rematch but broke into tears of disgust after reaching his dressing room. His timing had been off and he had seen most of his punches go wild.
"I couldn't do nothing right,"
the Cincinnati Negro said.

Landy Finds the Track Is 'Dead'

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Australia's
John Landy, holder of the world record for the mile run at 3:58.0 conceded today a fact that track observers here already knew.
"The running strip in Memorial Coliseum where he will attempt to break the four-minute mile Saturday is 'rather dead.'" Landy made the remark under questioning after practicing on the track. He did not mean it as criticism but merely as his opinion.

He also found it "a bit half."
American runners agree. They call the track slow in comparison with some others in this country.
Landy will run Saturday in a special race against Ron Delany of Villanova, Jim Bailey, a coun-tyman of Landy, and Bill Dellinger. The latter two are from the University of Oregon.
Bailey is the 1955 national collegiate mile champion and an old friend of Landy. Dellinger was runner-up to Bailey in the Nationals last year and NCAA champion in 1954.

Cooper Says Bat Simply Slipped

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
ST. LOUIS (AP)—"The bat just slipped."

This was all Walker Cooper could bring himself to say in explaining the freak accident which felled veteran Hank Sauer of the St. Louis Cardinals before last night's game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The 37-year-old Sauer suffered a severe brain concussion, a three inch cut of the lip and his left ear was almost torn off by the flying bat which struck him as he stepped out of the batting practice cage.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, club physician, said he took 12 stitches in Sauer's lip, "about 50" on the ear. He also did plastic surgery on the ear.

Middleman said preliminary X-rays indicated no skull fracture but Sauer will remain in the hospital for observation.

It was a typical regame scene. On the first pitch, Cooper's bat slipped and struck Sauer in the head. The angular 6-foot-4-inch slugger collapsed.

"What happened?" he mumbled, then quickly slipped into unconsciousness. He was carried away on a stretcher.

No one could say whether the bat flew between the cage netting and its supporting pole or barely cleared the cage completely. The latter was considered most likely. It was a one-in-a-million accident.

The Redbirds will miss Sauer. They obtained him from the Chicago Cubs for Pete Whisenant and cash, figuring he would remedy their sorry 1955 record against left hand pitching.

"It was just one of those things," Sauer said after regaining consciousness.

"I was lucky I wasn't killed."

CBS Claims Discovery of New Method

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS is convinced it has latched on to something new and exciting—a way of presenting filmed documentaries on television with all the suspense of fictional drama.

"We call it actuality drama," said Irving Gittlin, the network's director of public affairs. "The old documentary technique was simply to take something which actually happened and have it occur again for the benefit of your cameras."

"Our idea is to shoot it as it happens. More importantly, to set up a situation, completely realistic where your cameras lie in wait, waiting for the dramatic climax of an actual life situation."

Gittlin could get an argument as to whether this is basically a new technique, but few people would debate the fact that it was tremendously effective in "Out of Darkness," the hour long study of mental health so well received it was repeated last weekend.

Here, the camera was hidden behind one-way glass in the wall of a psychiatrist's office at a mental hospital. Three times a week, for three months, the doctor met with "Doris L." and most of that time the camera was cranking behind the wall.

What it recorded was a moving, poignant battle in which the patient slowly fought the darkest fears of her tormented mind to find the courage to resume a simple human function—speaking.

I took a great deal of skillful guidance and patience by the psychiatrist. Telling the story well also took a great deal of skill and patience by the cameraman.

Doris began not only mutually but seemed not even to hear any of the doctor's simple suggestions—to take a seat, to use his comb on her hair. It was three weeks before she dared to pick up the comb. It was eight weeks before she dared to sit down.

But when would she talk? When would she break through the wall of fear she herself had erected?

Finally, in the 10th week, the doctor quietly suggested to Doris that she might want to whisper in his ear. She leaned forward, her lips parted, she tried—but couldn't.

Then suddenly, Doris fingered the doctor's cufflink and, for the first time in three months of treatment, talked.

"That's a pretty pearl," she said. "Is it real pearl?"

The doctor said he didn't know and asked if she liked pretty things. Doris said yes, she had been given some pearls once but lost them. "I've lost quite a bit," she said, crying.

The dam had been broken and

THE LONG BODY

by Helen McCloy

CHAPTER XXII

She woke next day to a blue and gold morning. She rose and dressed herself without making an unnecessary sound. Alone in the kitchen she made coffee and took a cup out on the terrace. She got the telephone book and looked under "W." The name she wanted was listed at an address on Dogwood Lane. She left a note for Calcomin beside the telephone.

"I've gone for a drive. I'll be back in an hour or so."

Dodwood Lane was one of the quiet back roads. Alice came to a wall of whitewashed brick, overgrown with ivy. On the gatepost there was a letter box and a small, painted sign that read: "Willing."

She left her car beside the road and walked up a short driveway to the house. She rang the bell and it was answered by an old Negro with white hair. When she asked for Dr. Willing, he hesitated, then showed her into a small study lined with books. As she waited she moved to the large window and saw that the acre behind the house was completely enclosed in the white brick wall on three sides. The fourth side of the lawn sloped down to a chuckling brook.

She turned at the sound of a step. A woman came into the room, pale as her light dress with shadowy black hair and large, dark eyes.

"I'm so sorry, but my husband has gone to the post office. Was he expecting you?"

"No, and I realize it's early, but I do so wish to see him. It's really important to me."

"He should be back at any moment. Won't you come out into the garden and wait for him?"

Alice followed Gisela Willing through a narrow hall and a French window to a brick terrace at the back of the house where there were garden chairs and tables. Gisela offered coffee and made polite conversation.

Alice heard a car in the driveway. She stiffened involuntarily like a patient in a dentist's office who realizes that his turn is next. It had been madness to come here. These people were strangers. How could she have thought for one moment that a stranger might sympathize and understand?

Perhaps she could simply consult this Dr. Willing as a private patient troubled by sleepwalking and say nothing at all about Cristina Lash.

"Here's my husband now."

Gisela rose with a smile.

Alice lifted her eyes to the French window. She saw veiled movement through the screen door. It opened and a man stepped out of the shady hall into the bright morning. He was tall and slender and he moved with a slow, relaxed grace peculiarly his own. Against the white wall of the house, his dark head stood out sharply—the straight nose, and abrupt chin, the well-cut mouth. A strong face. A closed face that could keep secrets. The face of the strange who had given Alice back to the hospital the night Cristina died.

He recognized instantly, just as she recognized him. There was no flicker of eye or lip, no instant of hesitation, but a sudden, bright speak in the most penetrating eyes she had ever seen.

"Mrs. Hazard? I'm sorry you had to wait. Won't you come into the study?"

Gisela said quickly, "You'll both be more comfortable here. I was just going to the village."

Alice took a deep breath and turned to face Basil Willing. To her relief, he was smiling.

"You're a much better detective than I am, Mrs. Hazard. I already know quite a lot about your accident and your association with Cristina Lash, but it hadn't occurred to me that it was you I drove back to town the night Miss Lash died. How did you identify me as the man who drove you?"

"I didn't. I came here this morning because the police mentioned you as a psychiatrist who worked with them. I had no idea who you were that night. I even thought you might be the person who shot Cristina."

His smile faded as he studied her with increasing interest. "That's one way of saying you did not shoot her yourself."

"I didn't."

"Of course you know why I never associated Mrs. Hazard with my passenger," he went on. "The police told me you couldn't possibly have left the hospital that night. Your motive in coming to see me could be a shrewdly calculated move to anticipate my discovery of your identity and make me believe you had nothing to hide."

"I have nothing to hide but how can I prove it?" Alice's voice wavered. "Dr. Willing, I am afraid that I shall be arrested at any moment for the murder of Cristina Lash and yet I did not kill her. I have come to you because I need help and I think you are the only person who can give it to me. I've felt for several days as if I were moving in an invisible web that closes more tightly around me the more I struggle. The ruby watch in the grass... someone knew I had planned to do that. Someone is using my own acts and emotions to trap me. And the worst of it is that whoever is doing this must be one of a small group made up of my own closest relatives and friends."

Basil leaned back in his own chair. "You'll have to tell me the whole story in detail. When did all this begin?"

"It started a few days after John's death, when I found the green envelope...."

Edwards Gallery Files Bankruptcy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Edward's Art Gallery, a Hot Springs auction house, today filed voluntary bankruptcy proceedings in federal district court.

The petition, signed by co-owners A. Edward Harnik and Pauline Harnik, listed $225,534.30 indebtedness against assets of $87,240.48.

In individual bankruptcy petitions, Harnik showed his debts at $35,122.07; his wife's at $13,649.10.

Lee Cazor, U.S. bankruptcy referee, said Edward's action was the second by a Hot Springs auction house since last August.

Dentists Told to Watch Smokers

MEMPHIS (AP) — Tennessee dentists have been urged to watch hard-smoking patients for any signs of "smoker's patches" that could turn to cancer.

Dr. J. R. Cameron of Philadelphia, Pa., here to address the Tennessee State Dental Association, said "when a dentist sees Leucoplakia in a patient's mouth he should advise the patient of the seriousness of the condition."

Leucoplakia is also known as "smoker's patches." In such cases, Dr. Cameron said, "smoking should be stopped 100 per cent. In most of these lesions we advise

Politics Is a Family Affair

SAN MARINO, Calif. (AP) — Politics is a family affair for the Sobieskis of San Marino.

John Sobieski is running for Congress; his wife Marilyn is running for the California Assembly.

As of now, they stand a fighting, though outside, chance to duplicate the 1954 coup of another Western political couple, the Neubergeres of Oregon. Richard Neuberger won a U. S. Senate post. His wife Maurine was elected state representative.

Like the Neubergeres, the Sobieskis are Democrats. What makes their task extra formidable is that they're running in a district where Republicans hold an estimated 5,000-vote registration edge.

Sobieski, 49, Los Angeles-born, Harvard-trained attorney, is making his second try to represent the 25th Congressional District. In 1954 he lost almost 2-1 to Rep. Pat Hillings. Richard Nixon's successor when the latter moved up to Senate en route to the vice presidency.

It's the first run for Mrs. Sobieski, 48, who acts as her husband's legal secretary. She also faces a Republican incumbent, Assemblyman Monroe. The Sobieskis coordinated their campaigning to get the maximum political mileage. When one appears at a club meeting, the other usually is talking to another group nearby. Then they switch audiences.

This is the effect of quick-acting nitrate nitrogen (right). The crop was side-dressed with Chilean Soda—nitrogen 100 per cent nitrate. At left—no nitrate nitrogen side-dressing.

EXTRA GOOD

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

Whatever the crop—corn, cotton, tobacco, pastures, small grains, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda top-dressings and side-dressings give the best results, lowest costs, largest net profits.

Natural Chilean works fast. Corn responds bountifully at rates up to 500 pounds per acre or more, 40 to 60 days after planting. The nitrogen in Chilean is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—invaluable at the critical stage of crop development.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. On cotton, side-dressings of 300 pounds or more, 35 to 40 days after planting, produce heavy yielding, early-maturing plants. On pastures, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia.

Natural Chilean contains sodium. Ammonia nitrogen is acid-forming and must be changed to the nitrate form in the soil, but every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone for destroying soil acidity.

Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. It corrects acidity, improves potash, phosphate, calcium, magnesium and mineral element availabilities. Chilean is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for side-dressing summer crops.

Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

Reds Needed Affection After Britain

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One thing showed through the busy bustle of the Moscow airport this week when everybody who is anybody in Russia kissed Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev.

The two Red leaders, returning from Britain like men who needed affection after the cool reception there, were determined to improve relations with the West or give a good impression of trying.

They could have arrived home in a huff. It wouldn't have been surprising. The British Socialists had needed Khrushchev into bloom for his top. And their talks with Prime Minister Eden were not, according to reports, overly successful.

Instead, as soon as they alighted from their plane they gave a friendly nod toward the British, and then turned their full gaze on the United States like two traveling salesmen getting ready.

Work, Sleep, Play In Comfort

Without Naging Backache
Naging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exercising, emotional upset or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation with that restless, uncomfortable feeling. If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 ounces of kidney fluid.

The naging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights. Don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for naging, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

for a new customer and hardly able to wait.

If the United States and the Soviet Union both show good will, Khrushchev said, they can make a lot of progress in developing trade and cultural relations and solving the disarmament problem.

These two men, Bulganin and Khrushchev, with their trips to Yugoslavia, Asia and Britain, have gone to a lot of trouble to make Russia look like a friendly neighbor on the street of nations.

There is danger of underestimating them. It is usual in this country to be suspicious and even scornful of the Russians. The suspicion is natural since Khrushchev himself has said communism's aim remains the same: to communize the world.

But scorn is out of date. The Russians are no longer backward. They are next to this country in industrial development. They may pull abreast. And in the past couple of years they have shown initiative and imagination.

What effect they're having with their new tactics may not appear for a year, or five years or a decade. In this country the habit is to judge the success or failure of foreign policy in terms of months or at the most four years.

Every four years the administration, Democratic or Republican, has to justify its foreign policy before the voters. But time has a different meaning for the Russian leaders. They are not answerable at any given moment to the Russian people.

And, since they operate on the theory that communism will win out in the end, they can take their time. Bulganin and Khrushchev are moving fast but they still don't act like men in a rush.

C of C Warned of Inflation Storm Signals

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Board Chairman Ray D. Murphy of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York said today, "Typical storm signals of inflation are flying."

Urging government action to hold down rising prices, Murphy suggested in an address prepared for the final day of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting that Congress should arm the Federal Reserve Board with standby power to control consumer installment credit and home mortgage terms.

"We are of course a rapidly growing country, but the performance in 1955 represented more than normal growth," he said. "It was achieved by going heavily into debt."

He said mortgage debt increased by 15 per cent and consumer debt by 20 per cent last year while total spending exceeded the amassing of new capital by nearly three billion dollars. The 1956 outlook is for a further boom in plant and equipment spending, a sharp rise in steel prices, and higher prices for oil and other commodities, he added.

"Industrial management still seems to find it easy to pass on to consumers wage increases in the form of higher prices," he said. He praised what he termed efforts by the Treasury to keep federal monetary operations non-inflationary as well as the "vigilance and courage" of the Federal Reserve Board in five times raising the interest rate at which banks borrow from the reserve system, to discourage inflationary credit expansion.

He asked why direct controls over consumer and residential mortgage credit would not be better than such indirect methods, and he added: "If the reserve system is granted such standby powers, to use as they seem necessary, they will be able to cope with any future serious expansion in credit."

Fulbright Would Freeze Rice Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (A-Ark) has proposed legislation to freeze the national rice acreage allotment at the 1956 level and establish a "2-price" system. The 2-price plan was part of the omnibus farm bill vetoed by President Eisenhower. Under it, rice production for the domestic market would be supported at one level and that for export at another level.

Fulbright said the 1957-58 rice acreage should be the same as for 1956. Citing allotment cuts during the past two years, he declared that any further reduction would force many farmers out of business.

U. S. personal income was running at the rate of $314 billion a year in early 1956.

Ask Funds for Flood Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to allot $2,380,000 for a project to pump out flood waters trapped behind the White River levee in Phillips County, Arkansas, was introduced in the House yesterday by Rep. Gathings of West Memphis, Ark.

Gathings said that such a pumping operation would allow land owners to get rid of flood water each spring in time to plant a wide area.

The bill would require the Interior Department to grant the Phillips - Desha Drainage District an easement for a pump line across the 150,000-acre federal White River Game Refuge.

Several hundred acres of the reserve lying east of the White River levee would be transferred from the federal government to the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

New Way to Prevent Food Poisoning

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

HOUSTON (AP) — New steps toward a vaccine to prevent deadly botulism — and food poisoning — were reported today to the Society of American Bacteriologists.

Botulism is caused by one of the world's deadliest germs. It is often mentioned as an extremely potent weapon of bacteriological warfare, if an enemy spread it through our water or food.

A series of reports by scientists from the biological warfare laboratories at Ft. Detrick, Frederick, Md., point toward a preventive vaccine.

The botulism germs, which kill by forming a poison which they release within the body, there are a number of types of these lethal germs.

One type alone, Type E, caused 17 outbreaks of food poisoning in the last 20 years, those involved 69 persons, killing 21 of them.

It thus seems to be highly lethal. But when the poison or toxin alone from Type E germ is injected into mice, it does not often kill them the scientists said.

The poison does become lethal, however, if a normal digestive chemical in the stomach — the enzyme trypsin — is added to the poison. The poison becomes, in fact, up to 47 times more deadly.

The action of the trypsin is apparently the reason why these germs become so dangerous when consumed in contaminated food. The normal body chemical enhances the poisonous effect.

Based on this finding, the scientists used trypsin to make potent, purified preparations of the poisons from the various types of the germs.

From the poisons, they could make more potent vaccines against several types of botulism germs.

These have been tested with promising results in laboratory animals.

The series of reports were signed by James T. Duff, George G. Wright, Allen Yarinsky, Milton Gordon, Mary A. Fleck, M. A. Cardella, Carl Gottfried and Joseph S. Begel.

Cardiff, Wales, was first occupied as a Roman fort in the first century.

Remote Nepal Crowns Its New King

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Remote Himalayan Nepal crowned its new King today in a ceremony mixing ancient pomp with such modern innovations as movie cameras, foreign visitors and only one queen.

Hindu high priests placed the giant crown of the little kingdom — a gem-studded circlet of gold surmounted by brilliant bird of paradise plumage — on the head of 36-year-old King Mahendra at 10:43 a.m.

It was the precise minute fixed by the royal astrologers as most

Dulles Takes Off for More Conferences

PARIS (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles flew into Paris today to try to breathe some new life into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

His special Air Force plane from Washington landed at Orly airfield nearly an hour ahead of schedule. Dulles was accompanied by his wife.

Although preparations had been made for him to make a statement on the French radio, he said he had none to make. Instead he drove off immediately for the U.S. Embassy with Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon.

Dulles came here for a weekend meeting of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers which may expand the military alliance into political and economic fields. Possibly a new organization could emerge in time.

Dulles was pictured in Washington as coming to the meeting of the 15-nation NATO Council Friday without any specific blueprint. Officials there said he was anxious to hear the views of other governments.

But the secretary's remarks on leaving the U.S. capital and a White House statement made it clear development of a program of economic and possibly political action for the "North Atlantic community" would be given intensive study.

auspicious for a long and successful reign of the world's only Hindu monarch, ruler of nine million Nepalese.

Whirling motion picture cameras and hundreds of clicking shutters recorded the coronation in the palace courtyard. Official delegates from a score of countries and a handful of tourists looked on from distant reserved seats.

Behind a red curtain other guests "looked on." They were the unseen Hindu gods invited to the ceremony.

"Oh! People!" the priests proclaimed as they crowned Mahendra. "This man is your king. He is the King of us Brahmins."

Then the priests vested the monarch with "the glow, splendor and energy" of the gods to make him "unrivaled in purity, greatness and kingship."

Guns boomed. Bands played. The high priests in golden robes intoned ancient chants. The cheers of thousands of subjects echoed from the streets outside the palace.

Mahendra, sitting on a throne mounted on the skins of oxen, leopards, lions and tigers, repeated prayers after the priests and promised "never to be arbitrary."

His queen, Ratna Devi, sat stiffly beside him.

The ceremony has come down unchanged through the reigns of nine earlier Nepalese monarchs. But there were several big differences since the coronation 43 years ago of Mahendra's father, the late King Tribhuvana. Then only one European, a British resident, saw the coronation. Nepal, virtually inaccessible due to the high Himalayas that make up most of its 54,000 square miles, allowed few visitors before 1950. N cameras were present then.

Mahendra has only one queen. He has spurred Nepalese tradition that the monarch must have two wives.

Pour into jelly roll pan, 10 x 15 inches, lined with greased, waxed paper. Bake at 375° F. (moderate oven) for 12 to 15 minutes. Cut crusty edges from cake; turn cake upside down on a clean towel sprinkled with confectioners sugar. Pull off paper, roll cake in towel and cool. Unroll, spread with jelly and re-roll. Sprinkle surface with confectioners sugar.

even before you Switch the Pitch

Torque is for take-off—and there's plenty of it here. You just apply a puny bit of pressure on the pedal—and you're off and away. Never has such quick acceleration been so smooth.

It's the newest step-up in Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—and it gives a double-barreled thrill.

First, it delivers a record amount of torque to turn those rear wheels—even before you switch the pitch. You splurge on pickup while saving on gas.

The second is for real zoom service. Just put your foot down—and there you have it. You switch the pitch and Dynaflo serves up a dazzling burst of extra power to cut seconds off your passing—and add new safety to it.

But there's a lot more than torque to talk about.

There's Buick styling. Its flair and sweep alone have started many a conversation. On lines that are daring, but not reckless. On colors and interiors that are gay and stunning, but never garish.

And there's the Buick ride. Unlike any other. Softer, yet steadier. Cradling you in rubber-bubble comfort—leveling with you on every twist and turn.

A whole group of unseen marvels screen you from the harsh realities of the road. Including a new front-end geometry—new deep-oil-cushioned shock absorbers—new deep-oil springs on all four wheels. And there are new stabilizers and a new torque tube, to snub out any swing or sway.

In short, there's so much excitement from stern to stern—in any Buick you can buy—that Buick owners have a whole lot to talk about.

So why not take a Buick out on the road yourself, so you'll know what all the talk's about? Don't say you can't afford it until you hear us talk price. We're ready whenever you are.
